

The Room Where It Happened: Bringing Together FDACS/OAWP and UF/IFAS to Discuss Florida's Water Policies

UF/IFAS Natural Resources Leadership Institute
Jessica Stempien, Katie Hallas, Phillip Stokes

Situation

---

- Lack of interaction between two agencies
- Lack of knowledge of individual and joint missions
- Growing workload associated with Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (FDACS) programs and requirements under recent water legislation
- Increased need by FDACS/Office of Agricultural Water Policy (OAWP) for support from University of Florida/Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (UF/IFAS)

Situation

Meeting: Solution to Situation

Facilitated Discussion

- Asked meeting attendees:
  - Why?
  - What/how?
  - Resources/available?
- Parking Lot

Next Steps

---

After the Meeting

- Annual meetings between staff:
  - Senior management
  - Field staff/staff-level
- Quarterly steering committee meetings
- Possible inclusion of other participants, e.g., FDEP

Lessons Learned in and out of the Room

- Coordinate with meeting hosts routinely during planning process
- Agenda and activity planning are an iterative process
- Plan agenda items based on amount of time allotted for meeting
- Seek different opinions on survey design
- Necessary to be flexible during meeting and ready to change plan or tempo as well as being prepared for additional attendees

Lessons Learned in and out of the Room

Continued

- Planning and preparation are key to a successful facilitation- allows facilitator to go on “autopilot”
- Having knowledge about the topic during a facilitated discussion is helpful
- Can be difficult to balance allowing to conversation to unfold naturally and when to call on individuals and draw people out
