

FLORIDA WILDLAND FIRE TRAINING: MANAGING THE FIRES OF THE FUTURE

Andy Rappe + Zach Prusak
NRLI practicum

A photograph of a forest fire scene. In the foreground, a large fire burns through dry brush and grass on the left side of a dirt road. Several firefighters in full protective gear, including helmets and backpacks, are positioned on the road. One firefighter is in the center, facing away from the camera, while others are further back. On the right side of the road, the rear of a fire truck or utility vehicle is visible, equipped with various firefighting tools and equipment. The background consists of tall trees in a forest, with some smoke rising from the fire. The entire image is framed by a green border.

OUTCOME

After Action Review:

Facilitate meeting using NRLI Skills

Compressing four hour in-person meeting into one hour Zoom meeting = impossible

Don't Assume you know what the outcome will be, even if you are a subject matter expert

Wildland Fire Lessons Learned Center

A lesson is learned when we change our behavior.
